One of the founding principles of Langhorne Council for the Arts is the belief that the arts make a community more vibrant and connected.

What's happened since we announced Porch Fest is certainly proof of that! Our friends at Historic Langhorne Association will have their library/museum open for the day.

Our friends at the American Legion/Jesse Soby Post will be grilling burgers and hot dogs, and Langhorne Coffee House will extend their hours and have a special menu for Porch Fest attendees. Please be sure to patronize these places tomorrow as you enjoy the sidewalk chalk art and fabulous music around the borough. One more happy shout-out is needed: to Renee Rumsey and members of Four Lanes End Garden Club! They graciously volunteered to make flower arrangements for each of the porches. This -- all this -- is what community is all about! Thanks in advance to all who are coming together to make our first Langhorne Porch Fest a wonderful day to remember!
